

Timing is Everything

Plan for completion of project in advance of wet season to allow for adequate growth of slope stabilizing vegetation.

Timbergrids are not designed to prevent mass soil movement

An aerial photograph showing a construction site on a hillside. A white truck with a flatbed is parked on a dirt road, with a person standing on it. The road is surrounded by dense green trees on the left and a cleared area with some vegetation on the right. The text is overlaid on the right side of the image.
